Adopt an Adorable Furry Friend Today!

Carla is a young dog who has just arrived with us and she would make a wonderful family pet.

Our shelter is home to so many delightful dogs eagerly seeking their forever families in Gocek or nearby areas. Could you provide one of them with a loving, permanent home? Or perhaps you know someone searching for a canine companion?

Shelter and rescue dogs make exceptional family pets, craving affection and love, and when they find their forever home, they reciprocate that love and devotion, often surpassing dogs acquired directly from breeders.

All of our dogs are microchipped, vaccinated, spayed/neutered, and health-checked. We would expect you to make a small contribution to our costs by making a donation to the shelter.

We will ensure that you can provide a suitable environment for the dog by visiting your home. We will also evaluate your chosen dogs compatibility with your household by checking companionship with other pets and children.

Our dogs come in every imaginable variety – black, brown, white, furry, non-furry, kangals, huskies, german shepherds, beagles, lively and energetic, quiet and calm, older and younger, big and small – truly a dog for everyone's preference.

Have a look at the photos of all of our dogs at the shelter or come and visit us today.

Our Eye-Watering Veterinary Bills

Veterinary costs are a massive daily challenge for us.

For the past 26 years, we have been fighting against animal abuse and neglect, but it comes at a cost: providing the best possible care for each animal we take in. While we believe that saving a life is priceless, the reality is that rescuing animals is quite expensive.

Every dog that comes to us costs €500 for sterilisation, vaccinations, chips, and registration with authorities. We spend approximately €6000 per month on vet bills for over 300 dogs at the shelter. Additionally, there are maintenance costs for the shelter and day-to-day expenses for running Gocek Animal Rescue.

Some dogs we care for may never be adopted due to age, illness, disability, or other reasons, and they will stay with us until their natural end. We provide these dogs with love and care every day of the year.

As our animals age, their health deteriorates, leading to increased veterinary costs. Despite payment facilities from partner clinics, these costs can quickly add up, straining our limited resources.

Your generosity and support are crucial. Even a small contribution can help cover veterinary costs for our animals in need of urgent medical care. Together, we can ensure our companions receive the care they deserve.

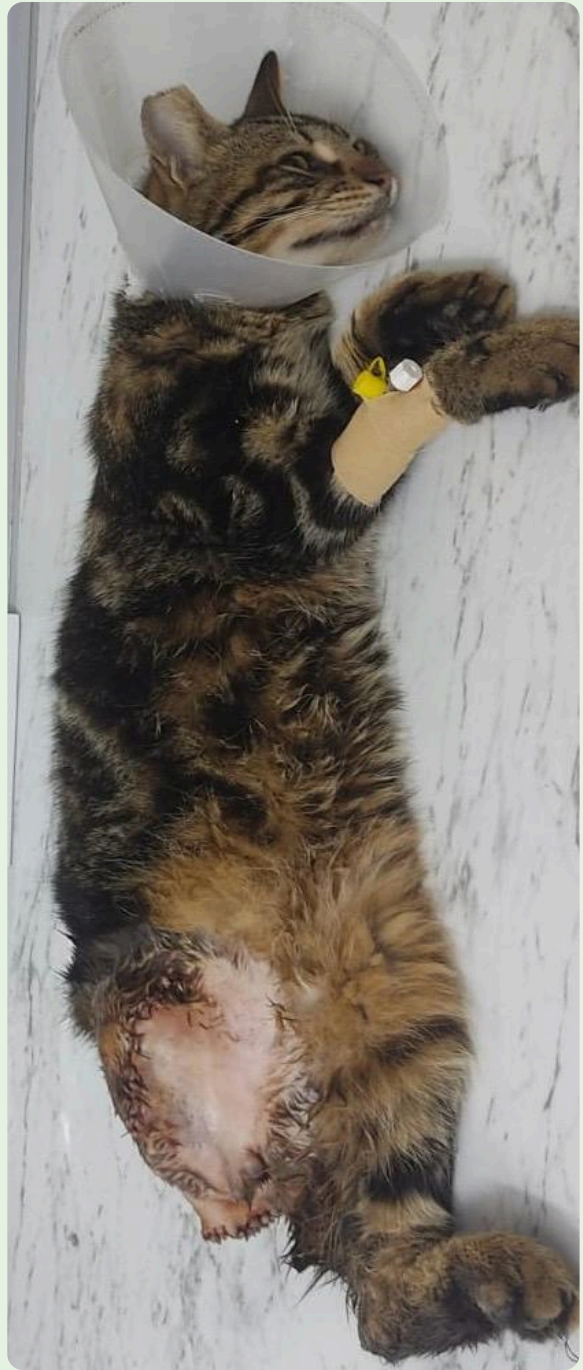

The following examples show you a couple of recent cases of trauma and injury that we have had to get our vets to take care of.

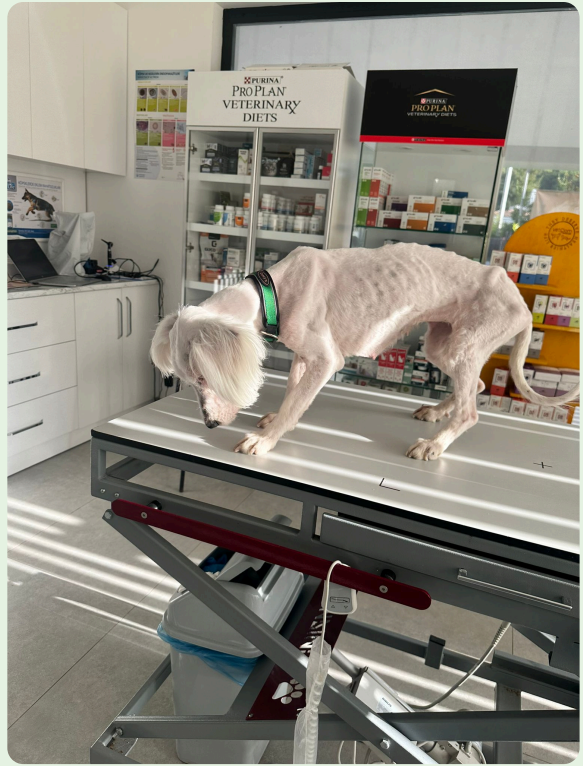

This cat nearly died

This street cat was attacked by dogs and nearly died. After some incredibly skilful surgery the cat survived albeit without one leg and its tail. This operation cost us €450

This is Lilly

Lilly had to have her eye removed. She is now fit and well but the surgery and care costs came to €350.
